Letter from Petersburg. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] FIRE LAST NIGHT-ANNUAL MEETING OF THE

PETERSBURG, November 18, 1875. A fire broke out about 9 o'clock last night in the large three-story brick building on Cockade alley, near the Old Market. The Cockage and the upper floor of the house were destroyed. The building belonged to the estate of the late Charles Friend, and was estate of altogether by colored families. It occupied anogether of the Virginia Mutual, of Rich-

New York, November 17 .- For some time past a gang of counterfeiters have been flooding the city with counterfeit five-cent pieces. Captain Kinnock, chief of the secret service in this district, last night received information that the counterfelters resided at No. 77 Eldridge street, and proceeding there he arrested five of them-Mrs. Ellen Barney, aged seventy years; her daughter, Mrs. Eliza Kinny, and Mrs. Kinny's children: Lizzie, aged thirteen years; Francis, eleven; and Katle, eight. Captain Kinnock searched the house, and found three hundred spurious five-cent pieces and also a mould for making counterfeit money. All the prisoners were brought before the United States court to-day. The children stated that their grandmother forced them to pass the counterfeit money. Emanuel Demott, the reputed stepfather of the children, is at

-We have to report au improved demand in our tobacco market during the past month. This was naturally expected at this eason of the year, after the inactivity which has prevailed for so long a period. The small import is now about all arrived, and the trade have satisfied themselves that prac-tically they have only the old stock to look to for supplies, and that the assortment in this is already much parrowed.

We may observe, however, that business was encouraged by a disposition on the part of bolders to meet buyers, especially on me-dium and common western strips, which until lately have scarcely been asked for. Some good and fine parcels were sold at about our top quotations, but the turn even in these has been in buyers' lavor.

We think the position of holders on this side is atill one of considerable strength: but certainly the tener of American advices is not such as to give much support to the market, and it must be expected that these will have their due weight on the action of both buyers and sellers.

Our November circular usually makes some reference to the sampling of the new arrivals—as the entire import of new western strips to this date will scarcely exceed three hundred and fifty hogsheads, and of Virginia four hundred hogsheads—there is not much to be said, but the very few we have seen are very poor. Leaf shows but little color. Some parcels we have sampled fully come up to the usual high standard of the shipper for fine quality and flavor, but these fail to command fancy prices in the absence

We do not know of any transactions in Virginia strips. The old stock on sale here consists mostly of the higher grades, bitherto held at prices beyond the views of buyers. Liverpool, with her large stock, must naturally govern prices for Virginia tobacco, and the reports that reach us are not likely to assist our chances of selling. It is to be hoped that stemmers, both in Virginia and the West, will, in preparing for their new work, understand the change in progress on this side, which, although gradual, must be very certain in its effects on prices before another import can be received. THE PINCHES OF POVERTY-A SAD STORY OF DISTRESS AND SUICIDE.-Living in a wretched hovel in Lemon alley, a few doors west of Payson street, in West Billimore, were a man and wife of med Kenner-the husband, Benedict Kenner, a sober, wellmeaning German, who had been a laboring man when employed, but for several months had been without work, and lived with his wife in a state of utter destitution, deprived of even the commonest pecessities of life. The little house was, to say the most, scantily furnished, and everything within and without indicated the abode of the worst kind of poverty. For weeks the husband had been vainly striving for employment throughout the city until he had become wholly disheartened and depressed in spirits. His wife was sick, mothe situation appeared to have preyed so tory of Norfolk.

disposition to try again. On Tuesday evening she told him that in her condition it was impossible to bear more sufferings than she had already endured, and unless something was done to obtain food she would have to beg a home in the house of a relative, and the two must separate. This determination was not the result of any quarrel, but was talked over quietly as an inevitable necessity. unless some brighter prospect arose. The husband promised to make one more endeavor to find employment, and went out with that purpose. In the evening about 10 o'clock he returned home and dred and fifty-nine requests were read, many found his wife absent. Supposing her to have carried into effect her determination, he at once proceeded to the cellar, and there, by means of a handkerchief made fast to a byton was sung. Mr. Moody read and based his remaks upon the 5th chapter of Luke. Mounting a barrel, be placed his head within the knot and kicked the parrel from under his feet. He hung there until quite dead, it is supposed, when, the handkerchief breakturned in the evening from the house of a neighbor next door, where she had gone, Yesterday about noon she had occasion to go to the cellar, and there discovered the ifeless body. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] FRANKLIN, VA., November 18 .- Polly Joyner was shot and killed by Docia Portress to-day. Both are white, Docia Portress and Jack Portress (ber father) are both [Second Dispatch]

FRANKLIN, VA., November 18. - Magistrate Holland held an inquest over the remains of the woman Joyner this morning. The following to substantially Jack Portress's testimony: "I was in bed this morning, and Polly Joyner came to the door, knocked, and said: 'I have come to see about my hog von stole. I am going to take the law into my own hands. I have plenty to back me with guns and pistois.' She then came in and struck my daughter Docia several times with a stick, and finally picked up my gun from the corner of the room. Docia got hold of the breech and Polly hold of the muzzle. I jumped up and tried to take the slick which she had away from Polly, and while doing so the gun went off, and Polly fell, saying to Docia, "You have killed me." Docia replied, " No, you did it yourself." The entire load of buckshot entered just to the left of the pavel, lodging in the back just under the skin, producing death almost instantly. The body lay in the door with the feet on the ground, and is badly bruised.

Portress and daughter are low, disreputable people, and have been in several scrapes before. The woman Joyner has always been considered Inoffensive. The verdict of the coroner's jury is that Polly Joyner was killed by a gun in the hands of Docia Portress. Jack Portress and his daughter made no attempt to escape.

Mrs. Albert Blythe, who lived near this place, took an overdose of camphor this morning, and died in a few hours.

Dedication of the Masonic Temple in Norfolk-Imposing Ceremonies-Banquet, &c.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] Nonfolk, November 18 .- The Masonic remple, in this city, was dedicated to-day with imposing ceremonies, including a grand street parade. The column was composed of seven divisions, platoon of police, with Col. onel L. D. Starke as grand marshal, Colonel Walter H. Taylor as marshal of the day, and Messrs. William H. Saunders, F. Dusch, Frank Hunter, Samuel E. Shipp, C. D. Durwell, Joseph Pugh, John H. Gayle, C. S. Sherwood, John A. Foreman, A. C. Freeman, marshals.

The procession was formed in accordance with the published programme of the day, and moved precisely at 11:30 A. M. The immense crowd cited the full capacity of the Temple, hundreds being unable to get in.

The ceremonies were of the most imposing character, and performed under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of the State and its officers. Augusta, Ga., November 18.—A frightful coldent occurred last night on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta milroad hear Pip House, about twenty-five toiles from Augosta. After the regular passenger train not seriously hert. Chizens are pursuing left Columbia resierday afternoon for Augusts it was followed by a train of empty cars for the same destination. The two trains rolled along at the rate of about twenty miles an hour, one following closely on the siding and was about to stop when the segine telescoped the ladies' passenger car, throwing it and the smoking car from the track. A terrible scene followed. The ladies' car was filled with passengers, and men, wemen, and children were jammed together, wounded, crashed, and bleeding.

After a few minutes' confusion the win dows and doors were broken open, and the passengers emerged from the wreck. It was bruised seriously but one life was le of Charlie Nightingalt, a bright and lovable child about six years old, son of William Nightingale, of Brunswick, Ca. The child had but a slight wound on the head, and segmed to have been steamed to death. A son of Mr. Hegethelmer, of the United States Coast Survey, who was in the smoking car, was seriously injured, and will probably lose an eye. Mr. Dishman, of Balti-more, a commercial traveller, was cut in the arm, bled a great deal, and seemed badly wounded .-

As soon as possible the passengers wer rescued from the wreck, and at last every passenger was brought from the train except the pyor boy whose untimely death is above recorded. A few hours later the outwardbound train reached the apot, and, being unable to pass, brought the passengers of the wrecked train to Augusta. The following is a list of the passengers :

Mrs. F. T. Weston, of New York; Misses Resa Woolfolk and Annie Wilson, of Rahway, N. Y.; Mrs. Coyle, Thomasville, Ga.; Mr. Patti, Baltimore; J. Margentoff, Aiken. S. C.; Z. Jacobs, New York; Macon, Georgia; H. H. Hoffe, Washington, D. C.; J. L. Atkins and W. H. Douglass, New York; Walter Powell, Augusta; Mr. Dishman, Baltimore; Mrs. W. M. Mebane, Georgia; Thomas Bell, Darlington, S. C.; Mrs. and Misses Nightingale, Brunswick, Gar; Miss Fowler, Riehmond; - Hill, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. Hegethelmer, United States Coast Survey; O. C. Jordan, Aiken, S. C.; T. N. Rushton and Hardy Crouch, Johnston, S. C.; Governor Chamberlain, Columbia, S. C.; A. K. Grover. New York: Dr. Deboit, Philadelphia. The conductor of the passenger train is not blamed, but there is great feeling against the men on the other train for their crizainal carelessness. The passengers report that the engineer and conductor of the last train

could not be found after the accident. Every attention has been given the wounded. The body of little Charlie Nightingale was carried to Brunswick this morning. Mr. Dishman and the son of Mr. Hegetheimer are doing well. All the other passengers escared-some without a scratch and others with slight bruises. It is almost a miracle how any of them escaped at all, as the engine telescoped right into the passenger car.

Augusta, November 18.—Only one death has resulted from the railroad accident. Mrs. Hegethelmer who was in the rear part of the ladies' car at the time the engine ran into it, found herself after the accident sitting on the cow-catcher, midway in the wrecked car. Her infant son was found under one of the but not dangerously injured.

Joyce once said to witness, "My friend Babcock writes me there is hell to pay. We are in a scrape, and must get out of it."

The witness admitted being a party to several indictments here, and had pleaded guilty to some of them, but had not considered and did not know, what effect his testimony to day would have upon the indictments still pending. Another witness testified to Joyce's industry in collecting money for the "ring."

REMARKS. From and after the 19th instant the Fxchange will be open from 9% A. M. tales will commence days ago has subsided. Very good old to-day sold at 75c., and very good new at 65c.; which is a difference of 10c. between the two kinds. The difference in the price of the same kinds of corn for the corresponding day last year was 5c.

The predictions of those who in the early part of the season maintained that the wheat crop was utterly rulned are now shown to be without foundstion, for the offerings of wheat on the Richmen Corn and Flour Exchange from the lat of July to the 13th November, 1875, were 112,106 bushels in excess of the quantity offered in the corresponding period of last year; and this, too, was almost exclusively Virginia wheat, while last year a large portion of the offerings were Western wheat. The yield of corn in the United States this year will greatly exceed that of last year. The great hog-producing States are provided with a fine crop, and the farmers are ready to take advantage of it.
